Information

E-Safety and Keeping Children Safe Online

- In order to keep children safe, parents/carers need to set clear expectations and guidelines for mobile phone, internet and computer use
- We cannot stress enough the importance of monitoring your children's access to mobile technology and the internet at home
- Depending upon the security levels and parental controls in place on home computers and networks, it is possible that some children effectively have unrestricted access to internet content and websites at home

E-Safety and Keeping Children Safe Online

- WhatsApp is rated as a 13+ app, and so is not intended for use by children under 13.
- Tik Tok is rated 13+, and so is not intended for use by children under the age of 13
- Instagram, Facebook and Snapchat are all rated 13+, and so are not intended for use by children under the age of 13
- Fortnite is rated 12+, and so is not intended for use by children under the age of 12
- None of these social media apps have been created for primary school children

E-Safety and Keeping Children Safe Online

- If issues arise between children as a result of parents/carers allowing children to use apps which are not age appropriate, it will not be the responsibility of the school to intervene in these matters
- Similarly, if issues arise between children as a result of parents/carers not monitoring their child's use of online gaming platforms, again it will not be the responsibility of the school to intervene in these matters

School Dinners

- Please note that school dinner portion sizes in the UK are determined by government food standards and vary by food type and age group, aiming to provide a balanced diet and meet dietary requirements
- Following these guidelines and the official food standards for schools helps to ensure that children receive appropriately sized portions for a healthy and balanced meal
- The nutritional guidelines determine the size of school dinner portions, and therefore it is not possible for schools to deviate from these by giving the children more or less than has been stipulated
